

FINAL ROUNDUP BY CANDIDATES IS MADE TODAY

Tomorrow the Verdict Will Be
Written in 1916 Primary.

Despite Date, Kansas Looks On With Mild Concern.

RETURNS COME IN SLOWLY

Local Fights in Rural Districts
To Be Settled First.

Probably 150,000 of 900,000
Voters Will Go to the Polls.

Candidates in every section of Kansas are today making their final roundup of voters. It is the last look before the men who want votes. Tomorrow the verdict will be written. The decision in Tuesday's state wide primaries affect five congressional districts, five state offices and a score of senatorial and representative fights. Yet, with the close of the fight but a few hours away, Kansas has shown but mild concern and the real interest in the primary has centered around contests for local offices.

The fight in Tuesday's primary affects five congressional districts, five state offices and a score of senatorial and representative fights. Yet, with the close of the fight but a few hours away, Kansas has shown but mild concern and the real interest in the primary has centered around contests for local offices.

Returns slow. Returns from over the state will probably be slow in reaching Topeka. Except in a few instances, concern in the rural districts will be for nominees for local offices and the candidates for state offices will be forgotten. It is probable that not more than one-sixth of the qualified voters of the state will express a choice of candidates for state offices. That will mean that probably 150,000 of the 900,000 qualified voters of the state will go to the polls. Because of the interest in local contests, returns will be sent to Topeka slowly.

Neither Republicans nor Democrats have made arrangements to receive returns from the state wide primaries. Ballots will be issued Tuesday night by the State Journal and it is probable the politicians must rely on newspaper reports for the returns.

THREE MEN CONFESS AVERAGE FRYATT!

British Soldiers Aroused by Execution of Englishman.

Strike Desperate Blow on Sunday in Brolling Sun.

With the British Army in the Field, July 30, via London, July 31.—French and British soldiers made today's attack in sweltering midsummer heat. The first real hot wave of the season struck northern France last night and today's attack was made in the heat of the day.

Several investigations were commenced today to discover the origin of the fire, which caused the awful explosion. The explosion was caused by the destruction of thirteen of the eighteen warehouses of the National Storage company in Jersey City, Edmond L. Mackenzie stated today. This loss is amply covered by insurance. The damaged goods included 20,000 tons of raw sugar valued at $1,000,000, and 24,000 bales of tobacco. On consignments of munitions and other supplies most of the loss will fall on insurance companies.

Notified Hughes Today. Gathering of G. O. P. Leaders for Ceremony—T. R. to Be There.

New York, July 31.—Governors of three states, many United States senators, about 100 representatives in congress, many delegates to the Republican and Progressive national conventions and chairman of the state committees of both parties are here to witness the notification today of Charles E. Hughes that he has been nominated for the presidency.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt will be present.

Today's Market Reports. Chicago, July 31.—WHEAT—Cooler weather tended today to ease off the wheat market. Disappointing Canadian reports, however, regarding black rust and poor filling acted largely as an offset. Besides the Canadian report, the market was unfavorably influenced by the fact that the price of wheat in the west had advanced to $1.24 1/2, followed by slight further declines and then a moderate rally. Subsequently, larger receipts in the west gave an advantage to the bears, but the market rallied, owing to the remarkable smallness of the wheat crop in the south.

CORN—Predictions of a hot dry week for the corn crop in the south and the fact that the price of corn in the west had advanced to $1.12 1/2, followed by slight further declines and then a moderate rally. Subsequently, larger receipts in the west gave an advantage to the bears, but the market rallied, owing to the remarkable smallness of the wheat crop in the south.

COAL—Predictions of a hot dry week for the coal crop in the south and the fact that the price of coal in the west had advanced to $1.12 1/2, followed by slight further declines and then a moderate rally. Subsequently, larger receipts in the west gave an advantage to the bears, but the market rallied, owing to the remarkable smallness of the wheat crop in the south.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. New York, July 31.—STOCKS—Prices advanced appreciably later under the stimulating influence of United States bonds and the fact that the price of wheat in the west had advanced to $1.24 1/2, followed by slight further declines and then a moderate rally. Subsequently, larger receipts in the west gave an advantage to the bears, but the market rallied, owing to the remarkable smallness of the wheat crop in the south.
